

David Richardson

David is the Director of Emergency Services in Baker County Florida serving in this position since 2006 and is still the current director. He graduated from Baker County High, received his AA degree from Lake City Community College, his BA in Sociology from the University of Florida, and his Masters in Public Administration from the University of North Florida. Additionally David received both his Certified Supervisory Manager and Certified Public Manager certificate from Florida State University. In 2012 he graduated from the Northeast Florida Leadership Academy.

David has served his county throughout his career. Nine years working with the Baker County School Board, Five years as the owner operator of his own private business, and a span of thirty-five years with Baker County EMS in either a part-time or full-time position.

Community involvement includes serving as president of the Baker County Jaycee's, Macclenny Lions Club, Baker County Juvenile Justice Council, and the Baker County Historical Society. Treasurer of the Baker County Fair association. Served on the Country Federal Credit Union Board of Directors. Currently serving as a board member with the Olustee Citizens Support Organization and a board member of the Florida Association of Rural EMS Agencies. There has as well been participation in numerous other groups, committees, and organizations in his church, county, region, and on the state level.

David is a fifth generation resident of Baker County and is currently living there with his wife of 29 years, Marcelle. They have three children Shiloh, Bethany, and Caleb.